What to Expect at Murder in the Vines

What time should I arrive?

Doors open at 5:30pm. We'd recommend arriving by 6:45pm at the latest to get settled (and pick up some early clues!), order your first drink and food, and find your table before the investigation kicks off at 7pm sharp.

What's the food situation?

Curry, rice, sides, loaded fries and desserts are available to order at the bar throughout the evening, with the main window for food being 5:30 - 9:00pm. Last food orders are cut off around 9:00pm so the kitchen can close cleanly before the final act, so if you're hungry, don't leave it too late. Food and drinks are separate from your ticket and paid for on the night.

Do I need to book as a group?

Tables are cabaret-style, seating 6-8, and you'll be solving the mystery together as a team, so it's best to book your whole table in one order. If you're coming solo or in a smaller group, let us know and we'll seat you with fellow sleuths.

What's the dress code?

Come as you are, no costumes required, though if you fancy channelling a little vintage glamour or coming dressed as your favourite detective, we certainly won't stop you!

Will I have to perform or get put on the spot?

Not unless you want to. The actors will circulate and involve tables in the story, but there's no pressure to "perform" - you can solve the mystery from your seat with your team.

Is there a prize?

Yes. The table with the fastest correct accusation at the reveal wins a prize.

What time does the bar close?

The show wraps with the reveal at 10:30pm, and the bar stays open for last orders until 11:30pm if you want to keep the evening going.

Is it suitable for all ages?

This one's designed with an adult audience in mind, with light-hearted, comic murder-mystery fun rather than anything graphic, but we'd suggest 12+ given the later finish and bar-led format.
